

Virtual site assessments for local businesses and organizations to prevent the spread of COVID-19

In a continued effort to keep its residents, community groups, and local business safe, the City of Iqaluit will be offering Virtual Site Assessments to community groups and businesses through the Canadian Red Cross Epidemic and Infection Prevention and Control specialists.

If you have copies of your building floor plans (hand drawn plans work too!), current COVID policies or procedures, and building occupation numbers you can submit these as well to give the Canadian Red Cross a better understanding of the building layout and size. Following the assessment, The Canadian Red Cross will send you a confidential report with recommendations and resources to help you with your infection control measures.

If your workplace or community group would like to take part in a Virtual Site Assessment or if you have any additional questions about this initiative please contact Geoffrey Byrne at 867-979-5619 or g.byrne@iqaluit.ca. Space is limited.
