Water Delivery Schedule Disruption

February 03, 2022- Iqaluit, Nunavut

The City of Iqaluit would like to advise residents on trucked-water of a schedule disruption due repairs required to one of the City water trucks.

With this vehicle taken out of our fleet for a short period, residents can expect potential delays in water deliveries on February 04, 2022. All residents will receive water on Friday; however, there could be a time delay to the normal route schedule.

City staff will be starting water delivery at 6:00 AM on Friday, February 04, 2022 and will work until all routes have been completed to avoid any further delays.

The City apologizes for the inconvenience, and thank you for your understanding.
