

National Day for Truth and Reconciliation - Scheduled closure for trucked-services and city offices

September 27, 2022 – Iqaluit, Nunavut

Statement from Mayor Bell

“The Residential Schools have left a profound and long-lasting traumatic impact on many Iqalummiut. The community continues to see and feel the pain and injustices carried out through the Residential School system, as individuals and families face the long-lasting impact of intergenerational trauma. The National Day for Truth and Reconciliation is a day for us to recognize that history and the legacy of residential schools as it pertains to the progression of reconciliation for Inuit and other Indigenous communities, to ensure that they are honoured and supported through this journey.”

In recognition of The National Day for Truth and Reconciliation, the City would like to advise residents that City offices and arenas will be closed to the public and trucked services will not run on:

- Friday, September 30, 2022

The Aquatic Center will be open from 12:00 PM to 4:00 PM.

Please be advised of the following alternate schedule for trucked-services:
