Snowmobile Trails

April 25, 2023 – Iqaluit, Nunavut

City of Iqaluit Public Works wishes to inform residents that some of the snowmobile trails inside the City are becoming impassable due to the melting conditions.

City crews have begun clearing ditches to prepare for the spring melt. That means, some of the previously accessible snowmobile trails may become impassable. Please use caution while travelling on the City trails.

The Public Works Department wishes to thank the snowmobiling community for their understanding.
