PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT

TENTATIVE COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT REACHED

DECEMBER 14, 2017 (IQALUIT, NUNAVUT) – The City of Iqaluit and the union representing City employees, the Public Service Alliance of Canada (PSAC), have reached a tentative Collective Bargaining Agreement.

“I am pleased that the City and Union were able to reach an agreement that is fair and equitable, and reflects the prudent management of public funds,” said Chief Administrative Officer Muhamud Hassan.

“This agreement will not only be good news to the employees who provide valuable services to the citizens of Iqaluit but to the citizens themselves,” said Jack Bourassa,  Regional Executive Vice-President - PSAC North. “Clearly, much can be accomplished when we work together.”

The tentative four-year agreement is required to go to Council for approval, and will also be presented to union representatives for ratification.
