

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT

HYDRANT TESTING MAY AFFECT WATER PRESSURE/COLOUR

OCTOBER 17, 2018 (IQALUIT, NUNAVUT) – The City is advising residents that over the next few weeks, work crews will be testing water hydrants throughout the city, to ensure that they are in good working order. During the tests, water pressure may be affected for a few minutes.

In addition, once the test is complete, the water may appear a little discoloured, as sediment in the hydrant may move.

Please note that the water is constantly tested, and is safe to drink.

The City thanks you for your support and understanding.
